Newsletter Ideas

By: Julia Crowder

Hello Branciforte Middle School! This marks our 3rd newsletter so far this school year! Now, here at publications we do a lot of work for the newsletter. We do the outline, find ideas, type the articles and more, but we want your help! We want your advice on what you like and what we could do to make each newsletter better and better. If you have any advice on certain things, please let the Publications 3rd period class know.

Chewing Gum Around School

By: Jason Immel

Teachers will give you gum duty if they catch you chewing gum. Kids should not be getting in trouble for chewing gum unless they are blowing bubbles or being distracting. In articles it says that gum helps kid focus. I hope teachers pay attention to this and unban gum and see if it causes any harm around school. I bet half of the school will agree to this.

Day of the Dead

By: Emily Allison and Taylr Myall

Day of the dead, also known as Dia De Los Muertos, is a holiday on November 1st where families or friends will build altars in their homes to celebrate and remember their loved ones that passed to the other side. An altar is a table that people set up with decorations, photos, candles, flowers, and sometimes food to remember their loved ones and celebrate their lives. Altars are a very important part of Mexico's most famous holidays.

Ms. Cavadias and her students have just finished making their altars for their family or friends. They included bread, candles, flowers, pictures, and other things that reminded them of their loved ones that passed.

Questions

1. Was it hard to think of what to bring in?

Neva Lunine- "Not really, I just thought of someone who died and brought the things that reminded me of them."

2. How long did it take for you to make it?

Taylan Johnson- "Not long, I went to the store and Bought flowers."

2016 Presidential Election

By: Nick Sundeen

Yesterday Donald Trump won the 2016 presidential election. People are sad, distraught or angry. But we shall give Trump at least one chance, I am but I wouldn't vote for him, but most importantly I am willing to give him chance. He has said things he should not of in the election. Nevertheless there is an atrocious side to Hillary. From what people have told me she has done illegal things on the computer. On the other hand she wanted to make it more accessible for terrorists to come into the USA.

But Trump, He is against mexicans, african americans, and latinos. He said that he wants to deport races other than the whites. But fortuitously he can't do that because there are branches, courts, government, and taxes. So they will be safe, hopefully. In addition to that Trump has insulted, offended women all over the USA and he still wins. It irritates me due to that. Ultimately, if you think different about this article, that's your point of view, so what do you think about the election?

Presidential Election 2016

By: Julia Crowder

November 8th, 2016 was a very depressing landmark in American history. Sadly, Donald Trump became the President of the United States of America. Walking into school the next day, I could feel the mutual sadness in the halls. There were a lot of tears spread. Luckily, many people were understanding about the situations they were put in by this happening. We would like to ask that everyone is kind to one and other, and to be careful of what you say because it could hurt someone. We can get through this together, one step at a time.

3. Did this project make you emotional?

Sean Byram- "Not that much because I never met my grandpa."

4. How did you feel you did on this project?

Alex Cobo- "I feel I did good, it's nice to respect and do things for people that passed."

Cafeteria Problems

By: Jade Wentz Samano

The lunch line is a MAJOR problem at our school, it should only take 10-15 minutes? Wrong. It takes about 30-40 minutes or even the whole lunch period, and by the time you get up to the front of the line the food is cold or they don't have anything and you have to eat a parfait, which I mean is okay but it's not an actual filling meal. I remember in 6th and 7th grade not wanting to eat because the line was too long. I hear people and my friends complain that the line is too long and I even hear the parents complain about it. We need to find a solution so that all of the kids at this school eat an actual meal.

Editor's Note:

In the previous November issue the article "Clowns" had the wrong author. That article was written by Taylr Myall, not Aydan Scott.
